This time table is just to make you easier the understanding of planned camp unrolling.

We will do everything we can to keep the schedule for our 2019 camp as it is published here, but it may change due to the factors that are beyond our control, so we kindly ask you for understanding.

The planned training sessions will for sure stay as they are listed now!

Another important thing to consider is that the meals time table might change little bit (to earlier or later), due to the final amount of camp participants and number of groups that we will have! So once again, we kindly ask for your understanding if those changes will happen.

Exact time table and schedule we will send to all camp participants by 15th of June 2019.
